AN OBJECT LESSON

Those who inveigh against a protective tariff should, if not entirely blinded by partisan prejudice or afflicted with sheer dumbness, gather some wholesome lessons from the turmoil caused by the construction of the New York Triborough bridge and other PWA projects.

LABOR AROUSED

Labor and industrial leaders are kicking up a real row over the importation of this material and have become extremely vocal in making their grievances known. Labor has served notice in no uncertain terms that it will not tolerate the purchase of Nazi steel, produced by forced labor under government subsidies, while steel plants in this country remain idle. The industrialists, on the other hand, very logically query how it is possible to start the fires in the furnaces burning under such conditions? The government one minute urges the steel men to aid in the restoration of recovery by putting their plants in operation, and the next turns around and makes it impossible for them to do so.

STACKED CARDS

The competition facing them and impossible to meet, is brought about through a designed combination of circumstances.

First, the Nazi government pays the losses of German steel firms on below-cost sales to foreign countries. They charge the subsidy up to relief because it keeps men employed in factories. Furthermore it keeps steel plants in readiness to turn out munitions. The firm of Kloeckner & Co., which bids successful.

DeLap Is Speaker At Meeting Here Of Peace Officers

Assemblyman T. H. DeLap, of Richmond, was speaker of the day yesterday when the Contra Costa Constables Association held its meeting at the Hotel Carquinez at noon.

DeLap was introduced by Constable J. W. Smiley, of Richmond, who acted as master-of-ceremonies. The assemblyman, who is a prominent local attorney, gave an interesting and very instructive talk on legal procedure.

DeLap praised the constables for the organization of their association and stressed the need of co-operation of all peace officials.

Members of the Association reiterated their stand against formation of a state police force, declaring that the organization would be a needless duplication of present peace forces and would cost taxpayers more than $3,000,000 to be inaugurated.

A short discussion was held by the group on their plea for a pension for constables who have served more than 20 years. This matter was brought to the attention of the board of supervisors several weeks ago and will again be brought before the board in the near future.

Constable B. B. Rogers, of Martinez, presided over the session which was attended by 28 peace officers and guests. The next meeting will be held December 12 at Martinez.

Police Chief L. E. Jones of the local police department and Constable Smiley, of this township, acted as hosts for the day.

Lynch Mob Is Routed By Guardsmen

THREE HURT BY TROOPS IN BATTLE

MOULTREE, Ga., Nov. 14. UP.—Two companies of Georgia National Guardsmen used tear gas and rifle bullets today to disperse a mob of Negroes seeking to take a condemned Negro from sheriff's deputies.

Under protection of National Guard bayonets, the Negro, John Henry Sloan, 21, was rushed to the State penitentiary at Milledgeville where he must die in the electric chair, December 10.

TWO BEATEN.—Two persons were beaten by gun butts and a third cut by a bayonet as the Guardsmen repulsed a mob of a mob of over 2,000 enraged South Georgians.

Sloan was sentenced to die in the electric chair for the murder of Otis Gay, young white man, and the wounding of his companion, Mary Lou Smith. Sentence was passed in a courtroom tense with indignation under the armed protection of two National Guard companies.

GUARDED BY TROOPS.—After passing sentence, Judge W. E. Thomas commanded Sheriff T. V. Board to hold the spectators in the courtroom while Sloan was withdrawn.

Led by Adjutant General Lindley W. Camp, commander of the Georgia National Guard, troops formed a bayonet-framed ring about Sloan. As they reached the court yard, however, the mob surged forward. Guardsmen exploded gas bombs.

Standard Oil Plans Bahrein Isle Refinery

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14. UP.—Standard Oil of California today announced it would construct a refinery on the island of Bahrein, in the Persian Gulf, where it has developed an oil field through its subsidiary, the Bahrein Petroleum company.

Orders for equipment have already been placed. The initial refinery will have a capacity of 10,000 barrels daily, which can be readily doubled to 20,000 barrels if necessary. The refinery will produce principally gasoline, kerosene, diesel oil and fuel oil. Completion of the plant is scheduled for next July.

Bahrein is regarded by oil experts as a strategic location for a refinery so far as world markets are concerned. Standard of California acquired 100,000 acres in Bahrein by concession in 1930. Wildcat drilling was started in 1931, and oil discovered in 1932.

The Bahrein islands constitute an independent sheikdom, now governed by Sheik Hamad, of the Khalifah family, which has ruled since 1783. Since 1861 Great Britain has acted as friend and protector of the ruling sheik, although strictly speaking Bahrein is not a British protectorate.

The island of Bahrein is some 20 miles long and 10 wide, and has an area of 208 square miles. The population is estimated at 175,000.

Carlson Talks To Alien Class On Constitution

MARTINEZ, Nov. 14. Thomas M. Carlson, prominent Richmond attorney, made a brief address this morning to the 30 applicants for citizenship appearing before Superior Judge Thomas D. Johnston and Superior Judge A. E. Bray, sitting en banc, previous to the start of examinations.

"The Meaning of the United States Constitution" was the counselor's subject and he explained the working of the federal government as prescribed in the constitution, of the three executive branches and of the judicial and legislative branches, and how they are related to each other.

He also compared the constitution with those of other nations. Carlson also gave highlights of the recent NRA decision of the supreme court.

Further he stressed the fact that the constitution recognizes two separate entities, the federal and state government. The people in the respective states are granted the right to draft laws upon all things not specifically ruled upon in the constitution, which means the federal government has no power other than that granted in the constitution.

Court Upholds Guffey Coal Act

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 14.—UP.—Federal Judge Elwood Hamilton today upheld constitutionality of the Guffey Coal Act in three suits brought by 20 coal companies and a trust company receiver.

It was the first district court decision handed down on the act. Petitions of the various litigants sought to avoid payment of taxes levied under the act. They attacked its constitutionality on the ground that it violated state rights.

TWO PLANES WRECKED IN CRACK-UPS

OAKDALE, Nov. 14. UP.—A Douglas observation plane, participating in the San Joaquin valley area, plunged 2,000 feet to the ground at Oakdale airport late today and was completely demolished.

Captain D. R. Lyons, pilot, and Lieut. R. C. Kugel, observer, occupants of the plane, received serious injuries and were rushed to the Robertson hospital in Modesto.

PLANE IN SPIN.—Observers said the plane swooped down over the airport, apparently intending to land. Suddenly it went into a spin and crashed near the field.

Physicians at Robertson hospital in Modesto said Kugel was in a critical condition. He was suffering from a broken leg, fractured jaw, internal injuries and severe cuts and bruises.

Lyons sustained a broken right arm and shock.

It was believed the observation plane which they were flying was leading a squadron of bombers, during a formation flight shortly prior to its crash.

BOMBER IN CRASH

VISALIA, Nov. 14. UP.—A Martin bomber, commanded by Lieut. A. E. Bryant, crashed near here during maneuvers late today.

According to reports received at Hamilton field, U. S. Army air base, neither Bryant nor his three companions was injured.

Reports of committees were heard during the meeting, which was presided over by Commander John Kinstrey.

An invitation was received from Monterey Post to attend a meeting there on Sunday. Lloyd Spores, post commander, and Earl Wiles will represent Richmond Post at the session.

A talk on the bay bridge was heard from a representative of Alfred J. Landberg of the Eastbay Street Railways, Ltd.

15 ITALIAN TROOPERS ON DEATH LISTS

WITH THE ITALIAN NORTHERN ARMIES, via Asmara, Nov. 14.—UP.—A terrific engagement between Italians and Ethiopians in the upper Faf depression, a blazing sub-sea level desert near the Ethiopian Italian Somali frontier, was reported officially today.

Three hundred Ethiopians and an "unidentified European" were killed. On the Italian side, 15 native Dubats were killed and 63 wounded.

OFFICER IS SLAIN.—At the same time headquarters of the armies of occupation announced that Major Aldo Delmonte, described as a "brilliant artillery officer" and two native sergeants were killed in "mopping up" operations on the left (east) flank of the northern front.

Delmonte, second Italian officer to die in the conquest of Ethiopia, fell in skirmishes in the mountainous Gheralta region behind the Makale front. A native sergeant was wounded in the same engagement.

STIFF SKIRMISHING.—There is continued stiff skirmishing in the Gheralta sector as the Italians attempt to clean out nests of Ethiopian guerrilla warriors who have filtered behind the lines in an effort to cut communications and harass the rear guard.

Brief dispatches from General Rodolfo Graziani's southern headquarters gave no clue to the identity of the European killed on the Ethiopian side. It was conjectured that he was a soldier of fortune commanding Emperor Haile Selassie's troops.

The official reports indicate the Faf battle was the severest encountered.

Jay Walkers Are Object Of Police Drive In Richmond

A campaign against "jay walkers" has been instituted by Police Chief L. E. Jones of the Richmond police department. Every officer on the department has been ordered to see that the law is rigidly enforced.

A city ordinance was adopted some years ago, prohibiting "jay walking" on city streets. Signs have been posted at intersections, warning pedestrians that they must cross at the intersections.

Flagrant disregard of these warnings, and the city ordinance has resulted in a number of accidents, several of which were serious. Chief Jones pointed out:

Jay walkers, the police officer declared, are dangerous to themselves and to the lives of motorists.

As a result of the chief's "crack down" orders, patrolmen and motor officers are attempting to cur violations of the ordinance. Offenders are liable to fines and imprisonment.

BEARS, CARDS
ARE FAVORED TO WIN GAMES

By UNITED PRESS

California and Stanford to breeze through their pre-big game opponents, C. C. P. and Montana, and Santa Clara Broncos to deal a death blow to the "Moraga jinx" which has dogged them for 12 years—that's how Pacific Coast sports writers sized up the bay region week-end football situation in a United Press poll.

At the same time, the scries picked C. C. P. to take Washington State into camp for its only major game of the season and unanimously picked Oregon State to win over Idaho.

Stanford was favored over Hawaii and Washington State, while California was picked to take the State favorite over Loyola and Santa Clara University. Santa Clara was a wild man over Denver in the sectional encounter.

No possibility of an upset in either the California-Pacific or Stanford-Montana "breast" contests was given by any pollster. The "breast" attack of Amos Alonzo Stagg's eleven was too good and dangerous enough to be overruled. Golden Bears from Amos Alonzo Stagg's eleven were too good and dangerous enough to be overruled. Golden Bears from Amos Alonzo Stagg's eleven were too good and dangerous enough to be overruled.

The Bears' record improved during the season last Saturday plus the belief that "USA" is able to win at least one good game this year were given as the principal reason by the writers that they will defeat the Congrats. Some mentioned the "probability" that the Bears will hold up under warm Southern California weather.

Santa Clara's defeat of St. Mary's by one vote in the predictions on the "little big game" annual triumph of the Bears' top-notch Catholic schools. Santa Clara hasn't defeated St. Mary's since 1923, when a field goal in the final minutes of play gave the Broncos a 19 to 9 win over the Gaels.

U. S. F. was given a 12 to one edge over Denver. Michigan State blanked Loyola, 11 to 0. Gonzaga blanked seven adherents to Pacot. South's team, and University of Oregon whitewashed Portland University in the voting, 14 to 0.

Spot writers who participated in the poll included:

Bill Leiser, San Francisco Chronicle; Owen Dwyer, San Francisco Chronicle; Ray Bell, Oak and Tribune; Bill Barry, Los Angeles Times; Dick Ziegler, Los Angeles Times; Bob Cronin, Los Angeles Times; Gene Coughlin, Los Angeles Post Record; Jack Swain, Long Beach Star; Rube Samuelson, Pasadena Post; Ed Orman, Fresno Bee; Pete Antonich, Seattle Star; George Varnell, Seattle Times; George Bertz, Portland Journal; Billy Stepp, Portland News Telegram.

OLD PEOPLE find
wholesome

Halitosis (bad breath) quickly yields to Listerine, safe antiseptic and deodorant.

Either because of stomach disturbances, food fermentation, or the wearing of false teeth, old people frequently have halitosis (bad breath). No wonder others consider them a nuisance.

But now Science has found that the regular use of Listerine will often overcome offensive mouth odors due to the fermentation of tiny bits of food on mouth, teeth, or dental plate surfaces.

This safe antiseptic and quick deodorant works quickly. It cleanses mouth, teeth, and gums quickly. It kills germs and removes bacteria, a major cause of odors, and thus counteracts the odors themselves.

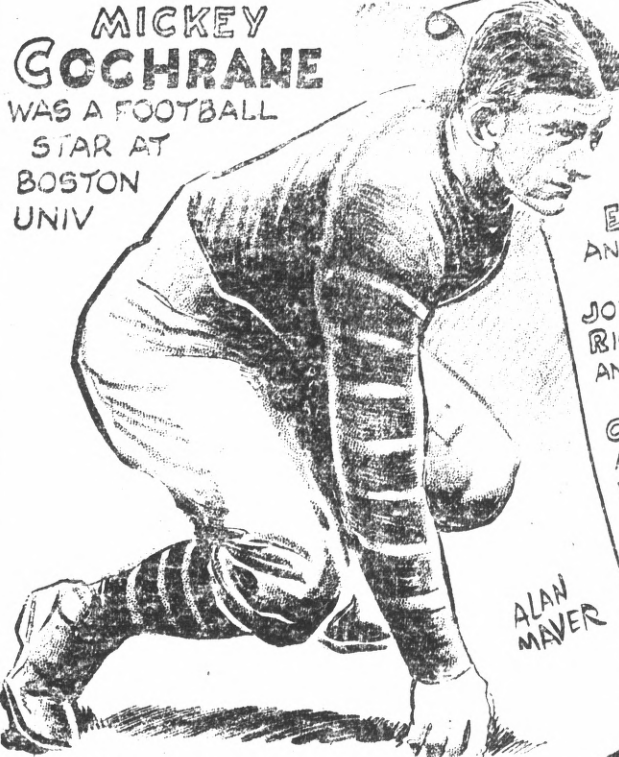

Try using Listerine every two or three days. See how much more wholesome it leaves your mouth. How it sweetens your breath. Listerine Pharmaceutical Co., St. Louis, Mo.

HAMILTON TO START
PALO ALTO, Nov. 14.—UP—Coach Bones Hamilton has definitely overcome his early season injury and will start for the Cardinals Saturday against Vontana here, Coach Thornhill announced today.

Whether Hamilton retains all of the attacking and running power that made him prominent on all-American lists last year is another matter, but his showing against the Grizzlies will at least give Stanford supporters a fair index to the value he will be to the Indians when they meet California a week from Saturday. Thornhill indicated that he would start ten second-string men against the Grizzlies.

BRONCOS READY
SANTA CLARA, Nov. 14.—UP—The most encouraging news that Santa Clara grid fans could wish for was presented today when the team in perfect physical shape.

That exception, "Patches" Thomas, broke his leg in the Washington game and had not been expected to recover in time for the annual St. Mary's-Santa Clara classic.

Don de Rosa, however, who had been out for several weeks is back in uniform and will start the game in Kezar Stadium next Sunday against the Gaels. The Broncos took a light workout this afternoon.

BEARS AT DRILL
BERKELEY, Nov. 14.—UP—The Golden Bears of California were given a practice drill today in a heavy preparation to the game here Saturday with Amos Alonzo Stagg's College of the Pacific but general interest remained focused on the game a week from Saturday with the Stanford Grizzlies. The return of Jack Buntingham and Jack Callahan, right ends injured in the Washington game for the Stanford, came still appeared problematical today.

Coach Jimmy Hole's California Ramblers have duplicated the varsity's feat, scoring 121 points to opponents' 21 in four games. The Ramblers end their season here Saturday when they meet the Stanford Grizzlies in the annual super-varsity contest.

The Ramblers hope to avenge their last year's 13 to 6 defeat at the hands of the Grays.

AMATEURS IN GOOD BOUTS AT CERRITO CLUB

The initial weekly boxing bout got off to a good start last evening at El Cerrito when a number of amateurs showed their wares in seven four-round bouts.

The bouts sent the audience, who crowded the El Cerrito Madison Square Gardens at Central and San Pablo avenues, away from the boxing pavilion more than satisfied.

The bouts, which are sponsored by the El Cerrito Post of the American Legion, presented in action some of the outstanding amateurs of the northern section of the state.

Buddy Baer, brother of ex-champion Max Baer, was a guest during the evening and was introduced from ringside as well as other sport celebrities.

In the curtain raisers, Paul Miller met Tommy Martinez; Joe Caponi and Sammy Gambino fought four slashing rounds; Charles Betz and Carl Barbieri showed plenty of speed in their bout; Christ Broza and Fred Ayala went round and round and Raymond Delgado and Frank Munoz gave good exhibition.

In the double main events, the fight between Hugh Wedge and Manza Woody was stopped in the second round, Woody being groggy. Earl Booker and Al Ayala gave the fans plenty of thrills.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Acne and Valvular Leakage of the Heart)

Question: Mrs. V. A. asks: "I have a breaking out on the skin which I am told is acne. I would like to know about this and also if walking is beneficial when the patient has a slight valvular leakage of the heart."

Answer: I have a prepared article on Acne which I will be pleased to send you. Write for these instructions and also ask for a diet to follow. Enclose a large, self-addressed envelope with your letter and send 10c in stamps to pay your part of the cost of preparation. Whether walking would be of benefit to the patient with the valvular leakage depends upon the damage done to the heart valves. If slight, then walking would probably be advisable; however, the patient must start by walking a short distance each day, gradually increasing the length of the walk as his strength permits and as the heart grows stronger.

Many of Those Suffering From Bronchitis Confuse It With Tuberculosis

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

THERE are many conditions of inflammation, obstruction, and dilatation occurring in the bronchial tubes in which the signs and symptoms are confused by patients and physicians. The discussion of these may not seem necessary, except as they can have considerable bearing on other diseases. Unfortunately, any trouble that causes a cough and expectoration, particularly if a little blood appears, spells to many individuals tuberculosis. This conclusion is not justifiable, and a short description of some of these conditions seems advisable.

DR. CHRISMAN

The old conviction that tuberculosis is hereditary still clings to our minds. Bronchitis is a condition of the Bronchi in which the symptoms, particularly in the chronic stages, are similar in many ways to those of pulmonary tuberculosis.

It is a dilatation of the bronchial tubes, either a considerable lengthening of tubes or stretching of certain portions into sacs. It is due to some severe disease condition of the tube which softens the walls and weakens the muscle fibers.

When softened by disease, a severe and prolonged coughing spell, particularly if the expulsion of the cough is obstructed by tough mucus or by some swelling or contraction, will cause a dilatation of this softened wall, producing a sacculous or bulging.

The Influenza Epidemic

The acute variety occurred quite frequently during the severe influenza epidemic of 1918-19. The more chronic form follows attacks of severe acute bronchitis and the prolonged forceful cough of whooping cough and measles.

The secretions filling these cavities cannot be entirely coughed out and bacteria developing in this secretion become a source of foreshadowing. The walls may ulcerate and expose the lung tissue, or abscesses or gangrene develop.

The disease usually comes on slowly, with no symptoms different from the primary condition, but when well advanced the signs are quite characteristic. The cough occurs in paroxysms, especially in the early morning. Great quantities of foul-smelling material may be expelled. Some blood may show in the sputum and a real hemorrhage is common.

The attacks sometimes occur several times during the day, and may be quite frequent or the patient suffer from cough and distress for some hours.

The sputum in bronchiectasis is very distinctive and can be readily distinguished from that of other conditions. It separates on standing into three layers: the upper layer frothy; the middle, composed of thin turbid greenish fluid, and the lower a heavy sediment of pus, broken-down cells and bacteria. Shortness of breath is marked on exertion.

Patient Loses Weight

The general health remains fairly good as long as free expectoration continues, but when free drainage is interfered with, the coughing spells become more frequent and severe. Chills, fever, loss of flesh and strength are noted as the patient becomes quite ill.

Chronic bronchiectasis almost always commences in the lower lobes of the lungs. Tuberculosis begins at the apex or at the base of the neck and under the collarbone. When it occurs at the apex, it is impossible to distinguish bronchiectasis from tuberculosis, except by examination of the sputum.

In severe prolonged cases there is a peculiar condition of the fingers that is quite characteristic. It consists of a curving down of the ends of the fingernails and a distinct enlargement of the first joint of the fingers, to which the term "clubbed fingers" is applied.

The root of the nail becomes loose and the attachment of the skin around the nail is tense and glossy. The treatment is similar to other infections. Remove the cause when possible; drain the cavities when possible.

When the expectoration is profuse, hanging the head over the edge of the bed or chair till the head touches the floor, aids greatly in emptying the cavities. Good food, fresh air and specific vaccines, or non-specific protein and the same medical treatment as in chronic bronchitis, are all indicated.

For Juice Stains

For meat juice stains use cold water. Soap and cold water, or a starch paste, also serve well for taking out stains made by meat juices.

Stick to Diet

Is First Rule For Reducing

By JACQUELINE HUNT

IF YOU are serious about wanting to reduce you must do more than just promise yourself that you will cut down on chocolate sundaes and go without that extra pat of butter on breakfast toast. Remember in yesterday's column I mentioned a "good resolution" notebook? In it you should jot down the rules that are to guide you in the reducing campaign.

The first rule, of course, is to eat less. If you slip on one day and have just a tiny bit more of some delicious dish make a note of it, estimating the number of calories over your daily allowance. And the next day have a smaller portion of some food to balance the books. That really is Rule No. 2—to record faithfully each day's menus.

Record your weight daily. Weigh at approximately the same time every day and with the same amount of clothing. You will get a more accurate idea of the progress you are making. If you weigh just before breakfast, do not worry if your weight is up a pound occasionally. Use the tape measure conscientiously—for most of you will want to lose inches as well as pounds.

Begin the day with two glasses of water to which the juice of a lemon has been added. This is an excellent cleanser and laxative, and it will take the edge off your appetite. More water between meals will also help avert the hungry feeling that dieting brings on.

Have two exercise periods daily. These need not be lengthy or the exercises complicated, but they are essential if you wish to come through your dieting period with muscles firm and well toned. Watch your posture, too. This is as important as a slender waistline and smooth, slim hips.

Follow your morning exercises with a shower—your evening exercises with a sudsy tub, and on both of these occasions do not be afraid to use one of the rough mitts or loofahs of the toilet. Straps to massage and discourage unsightly bulges of fat. The brisk rubbing arouses the circulation so you will be glowing, and glad to rise off with cool or cold water.

Walking is a splendid all-round exercise. You should try to walk at least a mile each day—briskly, of course, to arouse your circulation thoroughly. When weather or something else prevents your daily walk take an extra ten minutes of exercise to save your conscience.

Last of all, resolve to take the best care of your skin. As the store of excess fat is gradually called upon to furnish fuel for the body, the tissues, losing their soft cushion, are apt to sag and droop. This shows most quickly in the face. Use a good cream for soothing and softening your skin, and bring astringent to tone the muscles and keep the skin fine.

Now lie down on the floor on a folded blanket. Turn on your right side, the arms resting overhead. Swing the left leg forward and the right leg simultaneously, keeping your knees stiff. Do this ten times, lying on one side, then turn on the other side and repeat.

QUESTION: "I have a bad case of acne. Although I have tried using soap and water for cleansing, it irritates my skin, and for the last month I have used only cold cream. I have more pimples than ever, however, and I wish you would help me.—June."

Of course, your skin is sensitive when it is covered with eruptions, but you really must use soap and water twice daily if you want to clear up your skin. Use a wash cloth and thick lather of bland soap for cleansing and then rinse thoroughly. After a few days your skin will cease to be so sensitive. Always after cleansing use diluted alcohol on the spots, or use a good antiseptic and follow with an acne ointment or lotion that will prevent the spreading of the infection and will dry up the eruptions that have already formed. Avoid fatty and starchy foods. My least-let on "Blackheads and Acne" gives more detailed instructions.

QUESTION: "I'd like to get a wedding gift for a couple whose home is being furnished in the new modern style. Frankly, I don't know what to get. Can you make some suggestions?—D. McC."

ANSWER: Why not let the bride do her own choosing? Then you will have made sure that the bride gets something for her home that she needs and wants. Either make out a check for $10, $20, or $25, as the case may be, to the bride's order; or present her with a cash slip for the amount. This is far better than getting something of your own choosing which may not fit in with her taste, or something for which she may have no use.

Trend Toward Elegance Grows With Prosperity

By IRENE VAIL

New York—"Looking expensive," as far as clothes can do it, is no longer declass. Elegance can be achieved by the use of fur trimmings and luxurious fur capes at any hour of the day; metals, jewels, hats that have enough of the frivolous to indicate that there must be many others in the millinery wardrobe; dresses that profess the more formal for daytime wear; even sports coats are brave in color and fur trimmings.

Few colors for evening are one of the prosperity fashions returning. They represent a gay spirit, they make white and black look too classic or too practical, they encourage a greater variety of evening costumes, since a woman cannot appear too often in the same gown of one color. The reds are most numerous, the newest in the bright blue-red range. Eight bright greens and bright blues with the sapphire quality are all considered renewed prosperity colors for evening.

The significant role which scarves play on many of the evening gowns indicates a strongly reviving interest in the evening scarf. Not in years has the evening scarf been as vital to the silhouette of the gown as it gives evidence of being this year. Very often it doubles its appeal by adopting interesting shapes which permit it to be worn in various ways. With the addition of one or two appropriate brooches or clips it is possible to wear the scarf in different ways; draped up under the chin, leaving the back bare; softly draped in one-shoulder arrangement, with the other end attached at the back of the gown; pulled from front to back to form scarf ends simply crushed over the shoulders, with the long ends hanging down in panel treatment covering the front of the gown in the evening.

Puddings, Pies Are in Season All the Time

By JUDITH WILSON

PUDDINGS AND PIES—there's something mighty Thanksgiving-like about those two desserts, but you needn't wait until Thanksgiving to serve them hot, fragrant, and spicy right from your oven. A frosty evening—any frosty evening is excuse enough, or you might try one of the following recipes to climax the Sunday dinner.

Pineapple Pudding
Put 2 tablespoons butter, 1/2 cup brown sugar and enough water to moisten into a saucepan and cook slowly until the mixture is reduced to a thick caramel. Spread this inside of a ring mold. Boil the juice strained from a No. 2 can of crushed pineapple with 1 cup sugar that has been mixed with 1 tablespoon flour until clear and thick. Add the pineapple and the juice of a lemon. Blend the mixture with 5 eggs slightly beaten. Pour into the caramel-lined mold and stand in hot water. Bake 1 hour in a slow oven. Serve warm.

SUNDAY SUPPERS

Beggars on Horseback
(Broiled Oysters in Bacon)
Kidney Sauté in Wine Sauce
Toasted Finger Rolls
Mixed Green Salad
French Dressing
Pumpkin Tarts
Coffee

Consomme with Cheese Sticks
Sliced Chicken Sandwiches

Bread and Apple Pudding
Cut slices of soft bread into circles and strips, dip in melted butter, then in sugar and use to line individual buttered molds. Fill the centers of the molds with sweetened and spiced applesauce and raisins and top each mold with a round of suet bread. Bake in a hot oven until golden brown. Turn out and serve warm with Peamy Sauce or Golden Sauce flavored with rum.

Date Torte
Cut 1/2 cup dates and over them pour 1/2 cup boiling water and 1/2 teaspoon soda, let stand until cool. Work together 1/2 tablespoon butter and 1/2 each sugar and flour. Add to the date mixture with 1/2 cup nuts cut up fine, and 1 egg well-beaten. Turn into a pan lined with waxed paper and pressed. Bake in a slow oven 40 minutes. For a still fluffier consistency, add an extra egg white beaten until stiff. Serve with sweetened whipped cream. Since the torte is so tender, you should pull the pieces apart with a fork rather than trying to cut it.

Steamed Chocolate Pudding
Combine 1/3 cup confectioner's sugar, 1/2 tablespoon flour and 1/2 squares unsweetened milk chocolate, melted. Blend thoroughly and remove from the heat. Add 1 1/2 tablespoons butter, 2 egg yolks, slightly beaten, a few drops vanilla, a dash of salt and the stiffly beaten whites. Cover tightly and steam for half an hour. Serve hot with the following sauce:

Regal Chocolate Sauce: Combine 1 square unsweetened chocolate, cut in pieces, with 3 tablespoons water, 4 tablespoons sugar, a dash of salt and 1 1/2 tablespoons butter in the top of a double boiler. Heat and blend thoroughly. Add a few drops vanilla and beat well. This makes 2/3 cup sauce.

Fluffy Pumpkin Pie
Put 1 1/2 cups cooked or canned pumpkin in a heavy pan and cook stirring until most of the liquid has evaporated. Cool and add 1/2 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon ginger, 1/4 teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon salt and 3 beaten egg yolks. Mix well. Add 2 cups milk gradually. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a pastry lined pie pan. Bake in a very hot oven 10 minutes, reduce the heat and bake 25 minutes, or until the filling is firm.

MODERN WOMEN

A Man's View of the Wives Who Collect Alimony as a Living

By MARIAN MAY'S MARTIN

WIVES usually know why they married their husbands, but I wonder whether they know—or have ever stopped to think—why their husbands married them? With all the good times single men have, had you never wondered why they marry? Explaining why men men get a little older they mix common sense with fervor and try to strike a balance. Sometimes they succeed, sometimes they fail. If I really knew why men get married I would be a wise sage. But as long as they do I expect it is up to the women to play the game with some sort of sporting rules.

Pondering on the subject of why men marry I decided to ask one who had—after a long fling at freedom. This is what he said: "Take it by and large, men have a great habit of thinking some girls need them. Also, men weary of being alone, and tire of chance acquaintances. They want somebody to be present and accounted for when they get home from work at night. There are other great forces at work that drive men into women's arms. Men abhor loneliness: Women can get accustomed to it, I believe, but a man gets terribly sore when alone too much."

They Just Prefer
"There is really no explanation why men take greater interest in some girls than in others; they just do and that's that. The morales of the lady do not always matter."

"I know a number of men who have married wayward girls and steamed them in fine shape. This is not saying, however, that the experiment can be safely tried by every gentleman with a protective instinct."

"I am supposed to try to explain why men get married when they can have so much fun on their own—including little trips to cafes where the cream of the crop absorbs moisture. I am just sentimentally enough to believe that men care for one girl to a greater degree, possibly, than they have a right to demand or expect. Whether this affection prospers or perishes under the marriage yoke is hard to say, but they tire of men, to be sure. But they tire of really good women just as quickly as they do of any other kind."

"Incidentally, I hate advanced women. I have listened to the babble at cocktail parties and the only thing about them at all impressive is their abysmal stupidity. They are neither independent nor intelligent. They are usually grafters, too. I sometimes wonder why men ever marry them."

"I have listened to the chorus of young alimony grabbers, and often hear them talking about their spouses—how much they get out of them every week. These little chiselers usually have made a business of marriage."

The Grafters' Chorus
"They marry, dump their husbands, and then go after the alimony. If anything would deter men from marriage I should think it might be the grafters' chorus heard so often when the tongues are loosened."

"I have heard plenty of it and I do not hand a woman a medal for taking alimony unless she has children. This business of using and abusing the laws in such a manner as to live on somebody is disgraceful."

"Once upon a time the same class of young women now encountered in the free and easy atmosphere would have been forbidden such manners."

"Some of my men friends of mature years, commenting on this barroom habit extant among the society girls and others, says they can remember when women were compelled to keep to the back rooms, and that they were not even allowed there unless a man brought them. Some of our advanced writers have argued that it's a girl's privilege to sit on a high stool with a martini in front of her."

"These weird prophets of advanced thought contend that, for one reason or another, this sort of thing broadens a girl's mind. Maybe yes, maybe no. It will certainly widen her experience."

"But while it gives her greater contacts with life, it doesn't increase her chances of marriage. Nor does it convert bachelors into Benedicts."

Well, that's one man's opinion. What's yours?

An Adjustable Sweeper
A new carpet sweeper has a transparent panel in the top and shows when to empty it. Two steel combs inside automatically keep the brushes clean. Another convenient feature is in the use of the handle: Used on one side the brushes adjust to thick rugs, on the other they adjust for cleaning low nap.

THREE HURT BY TROOPS IN BATTLE

and back the mob with their rifles. Two of the crowd were said to have suffered bruises from the flying gun butts, a third was cut by a bayonet, as the troops rushed Sloan to the safety of the State prison.

LITTLE SLAYING
The slaying occurred on the banks of a canal here as Gay and the girl were sitting quietly on its banks. Sloan was alleged to have emerged suddenly from the underbrush, and opened fire with a shotgun.

The Negro today admitted firing the shot. He explained that he narrowly had escaped being run down by an automobile bearing several white couples and believed that Gay and Miss Smith had been one of the couples in the car.

The jury was out only 45 minutes.
Sloan escaped into Florida after the slaying, despite a 48-hour manhunt by bloodhounds and a posse. During the manhunt, another Negro received injuries which resulted in his death. Sloan later was captured near Havana, Fla.

Set An Example In Safe Driving

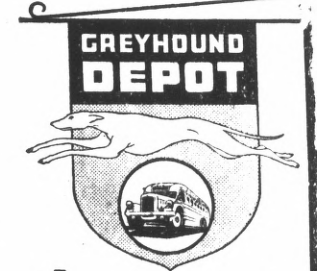

While public interest is centered on safe driving, through the influence of magazines and newspapers, radio talks and signboards, an outstanding example in safe highway performance is given by the Pacific Greyhound Lines, in its operation on California highways.

As highway deaths and injuries have mounted to appalling totals, one phase of motor transportation has shown that the highways provide a swift yet safe method of travel.

The increasing thousands who drive on the highways have made necessary, cautious, sane driving. The Pacific Greyhound Lines have added extra safety factors which have kept accidents at a minimum figure.

Since 1930 over 25 million people have been carried a total of 120 million miles and there have been only four passenger fatalities, or one for every 6,000,000 passengers carried. Measured against mile-ture has been only one fatality for every 30 million miles traveled. If every motorist would take precautions the Pacific Greyhound, too, accidents would be sharply curtailed.

be arraigned in police court Friday morning.
The former Buffalo, N. Y. youth, attached to the U. S. S. New York was found asleep near the body of the woman in a lot in a downtown beer parlor this week.

SEEN TOGETHER

Witnesses at the inquest conducted by Coroner T. H. W. Lebold told of seeing the youth and the woman drink together, then drink the steps into the lot.

Collier Austin Confield, a 71-year-old mural painter, saw them go to the lot where he kept his painting materials. He went on the stairs an hour or so later and saw the woman on the floor groaning. Her clothes disheveled and Golombek nearby. When he came back in another 30 minutes the woman was still and cold and Golombek was not in sight.

POLICE CALLED

He advised the bartender who summoned him, then called police. The police found the woman dead and Golombek in a drunken stupor nearby. Her face was scratched and her hair had been broken by a blow. There was blood on the sailor's clothing. When police in this the information which led to the murder conviction.

After the effects of the drinks had worn off, Golombek denied having attacked the woman. He said he had left her and later he had returned to the lot, "bleeding and in pain."

NO MOTIVE

Coroner Lebold pointed out during the testimony no motive for a slaying had been shown.

The open verdict came after a long period of deliberation on part of the coroner's jury.

Work Orders To Be Sent To Home Of Relief Clients

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—UP—Frank Y. McLaughlin, State WPA Administrator today directed SERA staff workers to deliver work relief orders direct to the homes of relief clients.

Enforcing the old idea of sending relief orders, the new procedure will require a daily check on all relief persons on relief, will show whether they have received work relief as directed, and have cashed their orders in direct contact with relief families, McLaughlin said.

The administrative order authorized $2,000,000 PWA projects, involving expenditures of $1,170,124 in Federal funds. Today's additions bring the total approved expenditure to $72,527,892.

Largest of the projects approved today is a building survey in San Francisco to determine extent of termite infestation. The approved expenditure is $114,540.

carefully on the PWA contracts, turned out vast quantities of munitions during the World War.

Second, the steel is shipped as ballast in German vessels, for $2 a ton. On the Marched City project it will be landed at Newport News, transferred to lighters and carried to North Carolina at a nominal additional cost. The cheapest freight rate from the nearest American port mid to the site of the project is $12.85 a ton.

Third, wage rates in German steel mills are half the rates in American mills. At the present rate of exchange, German steel workers get an average of about 20 cents an hour, plus a fraction of a cent if they have families. The average American rate is 61 cents an hour.

FEELER ECONOMY

Yet with knowledge of these conditions, Ickes has the temerity to buy German steel while thousands of men are without employment, simply because he can save a few cents. Perhaps he believes it is good economy to keep men on the relief rolls instead of putting them to work, but if so, it is the first instance of economy evidenced by the Administration.

It is true there have been abuses of the tariff, but it is more than any one other thing has been responsible for the high standard of living enjoyed by the workman in the United States today. If it is the intention to pull down labor here to European wages and living conditions levels then Mr. Ickes has adopted the right method to bring about that condition, but I hope that he will be forced to back down with as much grace as is possible under the circumstances, for Americans will not stand for any such foolishness.

New Rioting In Egypt Is Feared Near

"The far freedom from the 'English yoke' under the 1923 constitution. The constitution, which established a liberal monarchy under King Fouad, with British advisers, was adopted in 1923.

Newly arrived British High Commissioner Sir Miles Lampson, had proposed drawing up a new constitution approved by all parties. He refused, he said, because he already had notified his desire to remain in the 1923 constitution.

RETURN OF RIGHTS ASKED

The Premier said he submitted his demand for return to the 1923 constitution but has received no reply from London other than Premier Saad's statement that he would consider British requests to consider British demands. Sir Saad indicated that Britain does not wish to take advantage of the British position to strengthen their grip on Egypt, he added.

"I have seen the fortunes of England and Egypt," he said. "I have seen the fortunes of Egypt and Egypt." By blowing England, the Premier arrogantly is believed to have attempted a break with the extremist wing of his Wafd party, but probably has thrown a feeler to the Nationalist forces.

Employees Of Garment Firm Stage Strike

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—UP—Demanding recognition of the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union and shorter working hours, with pay to be adjusted later, garment workers today picketed the plant of the Carrie Models Company in the Apparel Center Building, Fourth street.

The pickets described the dispute as a lock-out. Mrs. H. Brittain, owner, said the girls walked out. In Oakland, a strike called last week against the Haxstrom food stores chain, ended today when clerks returned to work under an agreement granting recognition of their union.

Negotiations for shorter hours and higher wages will be conducted between union representatives and E. Haxstrom, owner of the stores. William Spooner of the Alameda County Central Labor Council, said.

NEW FILIPINO CHIEFS PLEDGE U.S. ALLEGIANCE

MANILA, Friday, Nov. 15.—UP—An independent Philippine nation came nearer reality today when, with simple yet highly impressive ceremony, the new commonwealth constitution was ratified.

The commonwealth, providing a 10-year transition period leading to complete independence July 4, 1946, officially came into being when a proclamation by President Franklin D. Roosevelt of the United States was read from a flag-draped reviewing stand.

PLAGS FLY
Assembled on the stand were scores of officials. That ends a long period of waiting for the Filipinos crowded into P. Burgos avenue and the open parks beyond, straining to hear the historic proclamation.

A 38-foot American flag and a Philippine flag of equal size flew directly above the reviewing stand. Decorating the speakers' stand were artificially draped garlands. The Philippine constabulary band occupied a stand on the avenue a short distance away. Flanking it were rows of University of the Philippines reserve officers training corps units.

GREETINGS GIVEN

Prior to reading of the formal proclamation, Secretary of War George H. Dern, official representative of President Roosevelt in the ceremony, delivered greetings of the American people to the people of the Philippine archipelago.

"There's something unique and inspiring in the spectacle of two peoples voluntarily agreeing to dissolve the bonds which have them and their separate ways, and yet that is the event to which we now eagerly look forward as a final consummation of the program for Philippine independence," Secretary Dern declared.

OATHS TAKEN

"We hope that the world, of course, will say of us that our work has been well done, but especially we hope that you people of these islands may continue to look with grateful appreciation upon the day that set this beautiful land under the sovereignty of the United States and to feel that our solemn here has been a benediction to you," he said.

Significantly, the new officers of the commonwealth not only took the oath of office as prescribed in the Philippine constitution, but also the oath of allegiance to the United States.

Their act bespeaks continuance of American sovereignty pending complete Philippine independence.

Following administration of the oath of office as first president of the commonwealth, Manuel Quezon, silver-haired veteran of the battle for separation, delivered his inaugural address.

Government Is The Winner In English Election

LONDON, Friday, Nov. 15.—UP—Government hopes of a majority of 200 in the House of Commons, mounted today as tabulation of results in yesterday's parliamentary elections indicated Labor party inroads on the Conservatives' 1931 landslide majorities were far short of what earlier had been expected.

All 12 members of the government of Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin whose contests had been decided this morning were re-elected.

At 1:15 A. M. standings in the election of a new House of Commons were:
Conservatives, 102 members elected, three gains, three losses.
Labor, 28 gains, two losses.
National Liberals: Seven, three losses.
Liberals 2 and Independents 1.

Firemen Take Long Walk But Fire Is Absent

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—UP—A cloud that looked like smoke swirled around the high dome of San Francisco's city hall today.

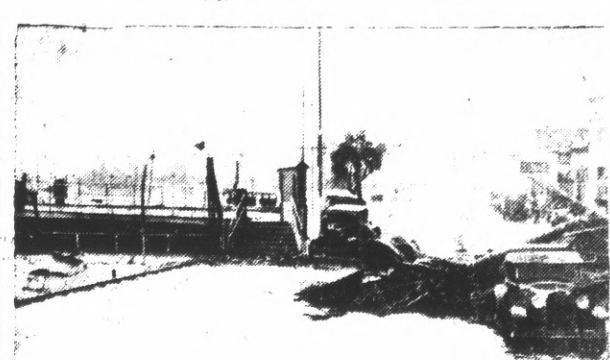

They found a fourth floor fire leading to the dome locked. An hour's frantic search located the key.

Then the six firemen, each laden with heavy chemical equipment, began the long climb upward. There were 4,550 steps, each one a bit longer than the other.

Finally they reached the top. There was no fire. No smoke either. Just perspiration—lots of that.

as chairman of the evening and George Johnson, the president, presiding, the service club presented to Elton Brombacher, Richmond's speedy quarterback, a scholarship in recognition of his scholastic and athletic activities. Johnson made the presentation.

At the same time Melo Milovich, Richmond center, who started the year as a raw recruit and played the entire undefeated season for the local squad, was voted the most valuable player on the Richmond team. He was presented with a trophy made of an oil can, highly chromium plated, in recognition of his services. Loren Whitlock, captain of the Wrecking Crew made the presentation.

FOOTBALLS FOR SQUAD
Gold footballs were presented to the following members of the high school squad: Tandy, Blair, Muller, Milovich, Kosich, Johnson, Ostrander, Whalen, Brombacher, Wilson, Ball, Hahn, Vincent, Alexander, Lowrie, McTaggart, Ponious and Bonaparte.

Jeff Cummings, familiarly known to hundreds of high school students as "Jeff" was signally honored by the Wrecking Crew when Curt Smith, star backfield man of the old team, presented him with a box of cigars as one of the most valuable supporters of the Wrecking Crew.

COACHES SPEAK

Head Coach Frank Ribbel and Assistant Coaches: A. Leigh Williams and Phil Hempler; Ivan W. Hill, city recreational director and coach of the Wrecking Crew; Superintendent of Schools W. T. Helms, high school principal, B. X. Tucker, and members of the football squads made brief talks.

Thompson, the radio announcer and former football star, was the speaker of the evening. He gave a most interesting talk. Slow-motion pictures of Stanford, California and St. Mary's football games were shown during the evening and Thompson announced and explained the plays.

MUSIC ENJOYED

During intermissions between the reels, Thompson answered football questions of the audience of more than 200.

Musical selections were furnished during the evening by the Pennington orchestra.

Members of the Wrecking Crew, who were present were Loren Whitlock, Claude Samples, Curt Smith, George Cornell, John Gonzales, Floyd Laughlin, Ken Mattheson, Ken Wells, and John Harvey.

SCHOOL REUNION

In addition to the members in attendance there were a large number of graduates of the Richmond Union high school present, thus converting the meeting into an old time reunion.

One of the interested spectators at the session was Attorney Clare D. Horner, former football star and football official.

agement of the war thus far, notwithstanding wild rumors of hundreds killed in previous reported clashes.

ATROCITY CHARGED

ADDIS ABABA, Nov. 14.—UP—The most lurid atrocity story yet to come out of the war broke today when the Ethiopian government claimed wholesale ravishment of Ethiopian women and girls in captured areas by Italian soldiers, even to despoilment of nuns and the wives of Ooptic priests.

The Ethiopians are rising in revolt because of "scandalous immoral acts such as violating women, even priests' wives and nuns from convents, without distinction of age," the government stated, naming Addis Ababa, Aksum, Adigrat and Abba Garima as the places where the atrocities occurred.

REVENDS FLEE

"Unable to defend themselves against violence by the Italian soldiery, the people, under guidance of the priests, took refuge in the desert, hoping to reach our lines," the communique said. "Measures are being taken to succor the distressed people. The revolting acts committed by the Italians will outrage the conscience of the civilized world."

At the same time, the government announced an Ethiopian victory north of Makale, with capture of an Italian supply train of ammunition and guns, with heavy losses to the Black Shirts.

Ex-Convict Is Murdered In Gangland Style

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—UP—Leonard Sloan, 30, a former Michigan convict, was murdered in gangland style tonight as he sat in an automobile with a young woman on the North Side.

Witnesses said the shots which killed Sloan were fired by one of five men who drove by in an automobile.

The young woman, her hands covered with blood, jumped from the car and ran in the direction of the North Avenue hospital.

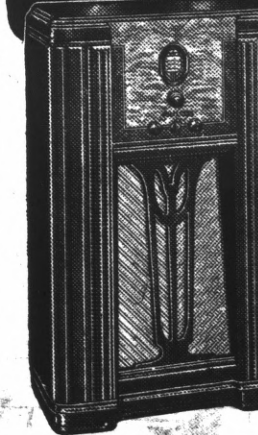

Five shots were fired at Sloan. Two of them hit him in the head and a third shattered his shoulder. He died instantly.

Police discovered that license plates on the car, a new Ford, were issued for a Chevrolet owned by Bert Rogers, Chicago. They were unable to locate Rogers immediately.

The gunmen's car sped away after the shooting and was lost in traffic.
